

OUIINEX

OUIX Token Launch Creator Sourcing & Activation Brief

Agency operating specification for a video-first, multi-market retail awareness campaign around the upcoming OUIX listing.

THE MANDATE

Make OUIX repeatedly discoverable and worth investigating.

Short video + local creators + community discussion + live explanation.

01 Mandate and Success Definition

Ouinex seeks creators who can introduce retail crypto audiences to OUIX, the Ouinex token, ahead of its planned listing. The first objective is qualified awareness and sustained conversation: multiple distinct creators encounter the project, examine it in their own formats, and prompt audiences to look for verified information. Direct buyers are valuable, but not every placement is expected to produce immediate purchases.

The campaign should create repeated discovery across distinct audiences - not a one-day burst of identical posts.

- Use the ticker OUIX consistently in agency records, assets and tracking links.
- Prioritize original video, local-language explanation and active community response.
- Make a verified OUIX information destination available for creators who choose to share it.

02 Network Size and Rollout

Stage	Planning volume	Purpose
Discovery pool	5,000-10,000 candidates	Map the long tail of relevant creators, including very small accounts.
Qualified shortlist	1,000-1,500	Deduplicated creators with verified content quality, audience geography and contact route.
Pilot	150-200 activations	Test platforms, languages, narrative angles and real costs.
Scale	500-1,000 active partners	Expand formats and markets with evidence of qualified attention.
Wider advocacy	Open-ended	Broader participation and discussion around the launch.

These are planning ranges, not an instruction to buy 10,000 placements. The agency should quote a staged program with an option to expand after the pilot.

03 Platform Priorities

Channel	Role	Sourcing instruction
TikTok	Fast discovery	Find strong native presenters, including small accounts with high recent median views and substantive comments.
YouTube Shorts	Discovery that can lead to deeper content	Prioritize creators who can also publish a longer explanation or host a live discussion.
Facebook Reels / Pages	Local retail reach	Search country-specific finance and crypto creators, Pages and active Groups, especially in LATAM and Africa.
Instagram Reels	Complementary discovery	Favor creators who already publish original vertical video and can adapt it for the channel.
YouTube Live / TikTok Live / Facebook Live	Questions and depth	Find small hosts with repeat viewers; assess their ability to explain and moderate live.
Kick / Twitch	Experimental live inventory	Include relevant crypto discovery streams; evaluate average concurrent viewers and chat quality.
X	Selective support	Include a small number of credible analysts where paid partnerships are permitted for the target audience.

04 Geographic and Language Scope

Source by audience location and language, not just the creator's residence. Initial languages to test: Spanish, Brazilian Portuguese, English and French. Add further local languages only where Ouinex has a relevant, eligible audience and a capable reviewer. Priority test clusters should include selected markets in LATAM and Africa, plus other eligible non-US markets.

- For each candidate, estimate the top audience countries and the share of viewers in each.
- Do not assume an English-speaking creator reaches only one jurisdiction.
- The United States is outside scope; EU and UK promotional activity requires a separate market-by-market clearance before activation.

05 Priority Creator Profiles

Persona	Typical content	Strongest evidence
Early token discovery	New projects, upcoming listings, watchlists, small-cap research.	Viewers ask about utility, supply, listing mechanics and research sources.
Exchange-token analyst	Platform-token comparisons, exchange business models, token utility.	An individual point of view that prompts discussion and comparison.
Retail finance storyteller	Accessible short videos that make unfamiliar projects understandable.	Clear camera presence; strong retention and engaged non-expert audience.
Local community operator	Facebook Page / Group, Telegram, Discord, regional crypto discussion.	Repeat conversation, real questions, moderation, identifiable community ownership.
Live host / video analyst	Project reviews, AMAs, reaction and discussion streams.	Repeat live attendance, active chat, ability to turn live questions into original clips.
Tokenomics educator	Supply, circulating float, vesting, unlocks and valuation.	Accurate explanations and an audience that engages with specifics.

Audience size: no hard minimum. Strong prospects often sit between 500 and 30,000 followers, but a smaller creator with exceptional recent performance should qualify. A 100,000-follower general crypto news account should not outrank a 3,000-follower creator with highly engaged token-discovery viewers.

06 Commercial and Audience Signals

- Strong positive: relevant creator with no current token or exchange affiliate deal and clear audience trust. This may be an easier first partnership.
- Also positive: paid community or prior sponsor experience that demonstrates ability to sustain attention. Record compensation, exclusivity and competing obligations.
- Deprioritize: repetitive content, inflated engagement or an inability to identify audience countries.

07 Content Architecture

Offer optional public information and format ideas. Creators choose their own angle and conclusions, whether positive, critical or speculative.

Format	Example creative question	Best placement
Discovery	"What is OUIX, and why is this platform token appearing on watchlists?"	TikTok, Shorts, Facebook/Instagram Reels
Product proof	"What does Quinex already offer, and where would OUIX fit?"	Short video plus longer YouTube follow-up
Tokenomics	"What supply enters circulation, when do unlocks occur, and what matters?"	Explainer video, live Q&A;
Comparative analysis	"How does the token model compare with other platform tokens?"	YouTube, Shorts, Facebook video
Community response	"These are the questions viewers raised; here is what the public materials answer."	Creator follow-up, Facebook Page, Telegram

Format	Example creative question	Best placement
Live examination	"Let us inspect the public token facts and take questions."	YouTube Live, TikTok Live, Facebook Live, Kick

08 Publication Rhythm

Phase	Trigger	Creator activity
Discovery	Verified project information is ready	A diverse first wave introduces OUIX and directs viewers to an official fact page.
Investigation	Public token documents and confirmed details are available	Independent product, tokenomics and comparison content; community and live Q&A.;
Listing window	Listing venue, date, route and eligible markets are confirmed	Practical information and follow-ups, updated promptly if details change.
After listing	Live public market and product information	What happened, unanswered questions and ongoing product/utility updates.

Stagger publications across audiences and allow each creator to choose their own view, language and tone.

09 Sourcing and Qualification Rules

The agency should search the creator's complete footprint, deduplicate accounts and review at least the most recent 10-20 relevant posts. Prioritize the median performance of recent posts over one viral outlier.

- Search language patterns: "new crypto projects," "upcoming token listing," "exchange tokens," "tokenomics explained," "small cap watchlist," "circulating supply," "vesting," "unlock," "crypto projects to research," and local-language equivalents.
- Assess whether comments come from real prospective investors asking questions, rather than generic emoji chains.
- Inspect live chat, repeat attendance, Page or Group activity and video completion data when creators can provide it.
- Record the share of audiences in markets that can actually be reached; do not treat an account's country as a proxy.
- Check competing brand relationships, probable fee, deliverables, usage rights, response time and willingness to make original content.

10 Suggested Qualification Score

Dimension	Weight	Evidence
Retail crypto audience fit	25%	Audience follows emerging projects and participates in research or listing discussions.
Original video capability	20%	Clear presentation, strong hook, coherent explanation and repeat recent performance.
Audience engagement quality	15%	Substantive comments, return viewers, active live chat or community participation.
Creator authenticity	15%	Individual voice, original content and credible engagement.
Target-market relevance	10%	Actual viewer geography, local language and reachable eligible audience.
Partnership accessibility	10%	Commercial availability, reasonable cost and manageable competing commitments.
Absolute reach	5%	Follower count and raw views; deliberately low weight.

Use the score to shortlist. Make final selections for a balanced mix of languages, formats, regions and independent audience clusters.

11 Agency Deliverables

Deliverable	Minimum content
Market map	Recommended eligible markets and languages, with platform opportunity and audience evidence.
Candidate file	5,000-10,000 deduplicated profiles; separate qualified shortlist of 1,000-1,500.
Pilot slate	150-200 proposed creators, grouped by platform, country, persona and proposed narrative angle.
Commercial proposal	Fee or other compensation, expected content, usage rights, publication window and relationship disclosure logistics per creator.
Weekly dashboard	Posts and links, qualifying views, unique audience estimates, comments, searches, fact-page visits and watchlist or buyer actions where measurable.
Learning report	Best performing creator types, angles, markets and formats; recommended scale budget and stop list.

12 Required Candidate Record

- Identity, contact route, country, languages and all linked handles.
- Top audience countries; audience age profile where verifiable; known access limitations.
- Followers, median views of last 10 relevant videos, engagement and posting cadence by platform.
- Facebook Page / Group, Telegram or Discord membership and evidence of real activity.
- Live platform, frequency, median and peak concurrent viewers, chat quality.
- Relevant sample posts, example angle for OUIX, quality score and selection rationale.
- Sponsor deals, quote, rights, exclusivity and eligibility flags.

13 Measurement and Decision Gates

The first objective is to make OUIX discoverable and understood. Use a common reporting taxonomy, creator-specific links where possible, and track both attributable and unattributable signals. Do not add platform impressions as if they represented unique people.

Layer	Primary measures
Output	Unique creators, original videos, livestreams, local languages and publication consistency.
Qualified attention	Median views, watch-through where available, saves/shares, substantive comments and repeat viewers.
Discovery demand	Search interest for OUIX/Quinex, official page traffic, direct traffic, community questions and watchlists if available.
Action	Eligible verified buyers, first purchases and retention after listing, where measurable.
Cost and quality	Cost per original video, qualifying engaged view, meaningful visit and verified buyer; audience overlap and removal rate.

At the end of the pilot, expand only where creators deliver genuine qualified attention at acceptable cost. Keep a holdout market or audience segment where feasible to separate creator-driven lift from wider market noise.

14 Reference Materials and Creator Independence

Quinex should make its public token documents, confirmed listing information, official URLs and product assets easy for creators to access. Creators retain editorial control: they may be enthusiastic, skeptical, critical or speculative, including expressing their own views about possible price outcomes. Quinex does not prescribe scripts or conclusions.

The agency should separately record any fee, token grant, referral reward or other incentive and arrange disclosure of that relationship where required. Editorial independence does not turn a compensated placement into an organic post.
